

Living in a traffic-congested area, I greatly benefit from the detailed weather and traffic information provided by XM satellite radio. It is much more detailed than any provided on regular stations and I can access it at all times of day. It is nothing less than perfect. XM has the right to provide their customers with the information they need. I am paying for this service because it is so much better than regular radio. This nation has more pressing issues to address right now than banning or censoring what satellite radio chooses to broadcast.
